All-New Season of Award-Winning MotorWeek Begins September 10th

"It's almost like the car is being reinvented again for its second 100 years."

(Owings Mills, MD) An all-new season of MotorWeek launches on PBS stations beginning Saturday, September 10th with an all-new, video-driven website, and an all-new lineup of cars, trucks and utilities to fit the needs of a broad spectrum of buyers. MotorWeek returns for an unprecedented 31st season with a look at what to expect as automakers strive to meet new fuel economy standards, while also meeting consumer demand for performance, comfort and usability.

"This season, MotorWeek will help consumers make sense of the technology automakers are developing to squeeze more miles out of existing combustion engines, and how they're using electrification, smarter design features and lighter, stronger materials to make significant improvements in efficiency," said MotorWeek host and executive producer John Davis. "It's almost like the car is being reinvented again for its second 100 years."

Season 31 kicks off with the return of a legend, and a supercharged supercar as MotorWeek puts the 2012 Ford Mustang Boss 302 and the 2011 Lotus Evora S to the test. From high performance to the highly practical, MotorWeek has it covered. The new season will include Road Tests of the 2012 Porsche Cayman R, the 2011 Ferrari 458 Italia and the 2012 Mercedes-Benz CLS 63 AMG, as well as the 2012 Toyota Camry, the 2012 Nissan Versa and the 2012 Hyundai Accent.

MotorWeek is more than just a show about new cars. It's also about keeping the cars you already own running. Master Technician Pat Goss is back with do-it-yourself advice on inspecting and test driving a new or used car before you purchase it; cleaning the interior and underhood of your car; fixing idling problems; caring for your transmission; and the latest new products and tools for repairing and maintaining your vehicle.

MotorWeek delivers the latest car, truck and utilities reviews, do-it-yourself car care tips, and auto industry news and trends. The Emmy award-winning program is produced by Maryland Public Television and airs on PBS, HD Theater and V-me Spanish language network. Listen to MotorWeek podcasts at motorweek.org and iTunes, and check out MotorWeek on social media sites Facebook, Twitter, YouTube and Flickr.

MotorWeek is sponsored nationally by RockAuto, LLC which was founded in Madison, Wisconsin in 1999 by the Taylor family. Their engineering background, passion for old cars, and desire to liberate information hidden behind the auto parts store counter led the Taylors to start RockAuto.com. Today, RockAuto.com ships thousands of auto parts from over 200 manufacturers to customers on every continent except Antarctica. The RockAuto.com catalog is updated daily with mechanical parts like brake pads and shock absorbers, body parts like bumpers and mirrors, interior trim like door handles and carpets, and major assemblies like steering gears, CV axles, engine long blocks, and complete transmissions. The RockAuto.com catalog is expanding constantly. Someday, it may be possible to build an entire car using parts from RockAuto!
