MOTORWEEK'S VAZQUEZ AND CHUPNICK TAKE GOLD, SILVER AND BRONZE
A Total of Eight Awards Earned for Outstanding Reporting

OWINGS MILLS, MD – MotorWeek, television's longest running automotive series, was recognized recently with eight awards for outstanding reporting by correspondents Yolanda Vazquez and Steven Chupnick. The duo received four awards from the 19th International Automotive Media Competition and four from the 31st Telly Awards Competition.

Vazquez won a Gold Award in the Personality Profile category for her feature on Fisker Automotive's Henry Fisker, a Silver Award in the feature category for "Blind Pit Crew Chief," a profile of Jay Blake, racing's only totally blind race crew chief, and a Bronze Award in the Public Service category for "Deaf Drivers" a segment on a new communication tool for hearing impaired drivers.

Chupnick won a Silver Award in the History: Single Marque or Manufacturer category for "Back to the Future: the Return of the DeLorean." The International Automotive Media Competition recognizes and encourages excellence in all forms of automotive media.

Vazquez also received three Telly Awards, Silver in the Entertainment category for the Houston Art Car Parade, and two Bronze in the Miscellaneous category for "Blind Pit Crew Chief" and "Deaf Drivers." Chupnick also won Bronze in the Information category for "Back to the Future: the Return of the DeLorean."

The Tellys honor outstanding television, film, video and commercial productions, as well as web-based video, commercial and film productions.

MotorWeek is one of the country's leading sources for automotive industry news, new car information and driving entertainment. The award-winning series is produced by Maryland Public Television and can be seen nationally on PBS, SPEED and V-me, the Spanish-language network.
